UNIT XI: THE REVEALATION OF EVIDENCE

After the completion of this unit, the member will be able to:

1. Understand the process of the revelation of evidence to the client.
2. Understand the importance of a good revelation to the client.

1. PURPOSE OF KNOWING THE IMPORTANCE OF THE REVELATION.

- Each new UPP member shall learn about the importance of the Revelation of Evidence to the Client.

2 THE REVELATION

1. Preparing the Revelation of Evidence:

After an the analysis has been completed by the tech crew and all of the evidence has been placed on a portable media by the Tech Manager, the revelation of evidence shall be scheduled by the Case Manager and / or Director with the Client. Reveals are primarily used just for private home investigations, however in some rare instances we may perform a Reveal for a public location.

2. The Reveal:

This is the climax of any investigation. It is the time when a member of UPP Management will set down with the client and present the finding of evidence with them. We will already know whether the activity was paranormal or caused by natural acts. The client is our number one concern, so we have to be honest, complete and straight up with them

3. The Revelation of Evidence:

At this time a member of UPP Management will start presenting all of the evidence footage to the client (Audio, Photographs, & Video). It must be explained where it is totally understood by the client, so this needs to very thorough. We will also reveal personal experiences that any investigators had during the investigation (This is why it so important for each investigator to fill out an Incident Case Report at the conclusion of each and every investigation).

NOTES:

Some statistics claim that only 1% of claimed paranormal activity is actually valid paranormal activity. So, an investigator can never assume that a location is haunted before the entire process of the investigation is complete and all data has been analyzed. If no one has ever been injured in their home, chances are they never will. The client may choose to have the Entity removed regardless. In this case we will contact someone who can perform a cleansing.
